55% retail investors stay put in equity funds for over 2 yrs

Market participants say this is because newcomers are seeing long-term benefits MFs offer

CHIRAG MADIA
Mumbai, 20 August

Investors are increasingly staying invested for longer in equity schemes thanks to the good returns they generated and the increasing acceptance of mutual funds as long-term products. As of the June quarter, over 55.6 per cent of retail investors stayed invested in equity funds for more than two years, compared with 48.7 per cent in March 2020.

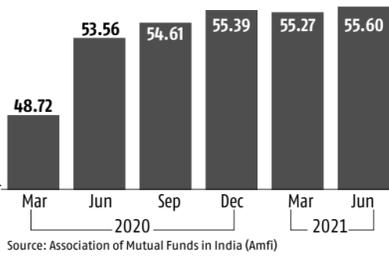

Data from the Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi) shows that the figure was 55.4 per cent in December 2020. According to the data, of the total retail equity assets of ₹7.12 trillion, ₹3.96 trillion has remained invested for over two years.

However, even as a majority of retail investors have stuck around for the longer term, the trend has been different for high net worth individuals (HNI). According to Amfi data, 47 per cent of HNIs had held on to their equity scheme investments for over two years as of June 2021.

Market participants say the reason more retail investors have stayed put for longer in equity schemes is because many newcomers have started investing in mutual funds keeping in view the long-term benefits they offer. Sirshendu Basu, head products at IDFC MF, says investors now appreciate the fact that patience is very well rewarded. Time spent in the equity market is more important than timing the entry.

The returns generated by equity funds over the past year is also a factor that has convinced investors to stick around for longer. Large-cap funds have generated average returns of around 45.88 per cent over the last year, while mid- and small-cap funds have provided returns of 64.27 per cent and 88.87 per cent, respectively.

Ashtosh Bishnoi, managing director and chief executive officer at Mahindra Manulife MF, says: "We have seen a large number of investors who come through systematic investment plans (SIPs) where they prefer having a disciplined investment approach. Their holding period is now more than five years, which used to be just two years a few years back."

In July, new SIP registrations stood around 2.38 million — the highest-ever recorded by the MF industry. Investments through SIPs also increased in July, compared to June. The SIP contribution in July stood at ₹9,609 crore, against ₹9,155 crore in June, and the AUM rose to ₹5.03 trillion.

In the current financial year, around 7.46 million new SIPs accounts have been opened in the mutual fund industry. "As long as SIPs continue to grow, I don't think there will be sharp redemptions, even if there is some correction in the market," added Bishnoi.

However, there are some industry players who still feel that investors continue to invest as long as they get positive returns and their behavior will be tested when there is a 10-15 per cent fall in the market.

Split portfolio into income and growth segments at retirement

Use equities to keep your wealth growing, fixed-income instruments and annuities to generate cash flow

SARBAJEET K SEN

Turning 60 and joining the ranks of senior citizens comes with a number of perks. The basic exemption limit for taxation goes up, new tax deductions become available, and you can invest in instruments designed for retirees. But crossing this threshold also calls for a major reorientation of the investment portfolio.

In the past, your portfolio would have been largely growth-oriented. Now, a part of it must generate a regular cash flow to substitute for the income that may have stopped or diminished. The other part must be invested in a manner so that it keeps growing, counters inflation, and helps you maintain your lifestyle. Use this World Senior Citizen's Day as a trigger to perform this task.

It is crucial to be conservative. Says Anil Rego, founder and chief executive officer, Right Horizons, "Proper money management becomes extremely important in this phase." If your corpus takes a hit due to any reason, recovery will prove difficult.

Don't dispense with equities entirely

Lifespans are increasing. To counter inflation effectively over the next few decades, a part of your portfolio must remain in equity-based instruments. "At 60, you may have around 40 per cent of your portfolio in equities," says Kartik Jhaveri, director-investment services, Transcend Capital.

A simple portfolio comprising an index fund for large-cap exposure and an actively managed flexi-cap fund should suffice for most investors. "Mutual funds should be preferred as they offer diversified exposure and are tax-efficient," says Amol Joshi, founder, PlanRupee Investment Services.

Debt for income generation

This portion of the portfolio will provide you with a regular income and provide stability. If you have a Public Provident Fund (7.1 per cent tax-free) and it completes 15 years around this time, keep extending it. If you go for the default option — extension with no contribution — you will be able to withdraw any amount less than the full corpus once every financial year. If you opt for extension with contribution, you will be able to withdraw (in a financial year) up to 60 per cent of the account balance at the time of extension.

Senior Citizens Savings Scheme and Pradhan Mantri Vaya Vandana Yojana are meant primarily for senior citizens. "They offer an assured 7.4 per cent per annum (taxable) payable at regular inter-

BUY HEALTH COVER

- If you do not have a cover at the time of retirement, approach the insurer who provides group cover to your employer, and request for transfer to a personal cover
- Many senior citizens' health policies allow entry even after the age of 60 or 65
- Insurers offering these policies could agree to cover you even if you have a pre-existing ailment or two
- Check the policy for waiting period, co-payment requirement, and sub-limits

vals, which is better than what bank fixed deposits (FDs) are offering currently," says Joshi. According to Rego, "Debt funds, fixed deposits and bonds can also be used to build a diversified debt portfolio." A systematic withdrawal plan in a lower-duration debt fund can be a tax-efficient option for income generation once the fund completes three years.

A part of the income-generation corpus (30-40 per cent) should be invested in immediate annuities for a regular pension and to combat interest-rate risk. To get better rates, buy the "without return of purchase price" option. Annuity rates improve with age, so stagger your purchases.

Stay liquid

While it was always advisable for senior citizens to maintain a liquid corpus, the pandemic has made it imperative to do so. "Senior citizens should be careful about locking up money for long periods," says Jhaveri. Asset-rich but cash-poor is a common plight among retirees. Around 10-20 per cent of the retirement corpus should be kept in liquid instruments, including cash at home, savings account, fixed deposits (online), and liquid funds. Supplement these with credit cards to augment spending power in a health emergency.

Time to consolidate

Senior citizens should consolidate their finances. Reduce the number of bank accounts and dispose of far-flung properties. "All your finances should be accessible online," says Jhaveri. Finally, write a Will if you have not done so yet. Bank accounts, demat accounts, etc, must all have nominees. These steps will ensure smooth wealth transfer to the next generation.

last year. Sales rose to ₹271.9 crore in Q1, up 16.5 per cent over the year-ago period.
